

We Rate Dogs!

By: Andrea Bredesen

“WeRateDogs” is a great place to see some cute and cuddly Puppies, Puppos, and Floofers. With ratings varying from 1 to 1779, and 78.97% of all ratings being 10 or above, you’re guaranteed to find some perfect or better scores!

Of the 1284 photos the breed predicted, 199 were unsuccessful in finding the breed. The 106 Golden Retrievers (as total in the left graph) are averaging a 63.91% confidence level. (as shown below). The 27 Pomeranians photos were predicted with an average of 72.16 confidence level.

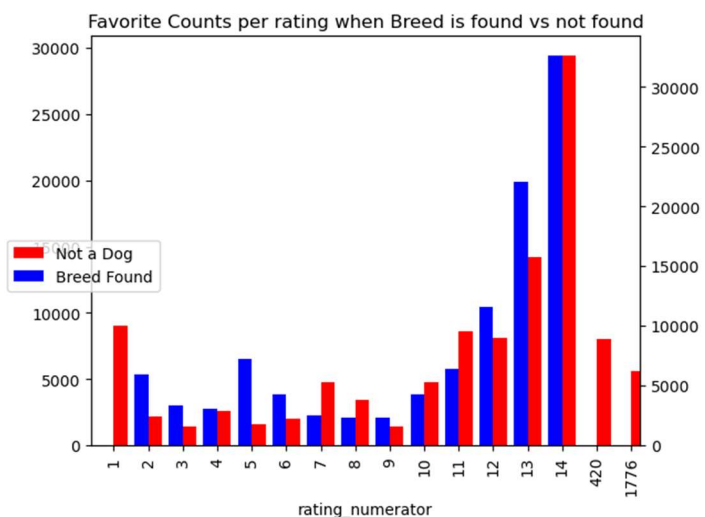

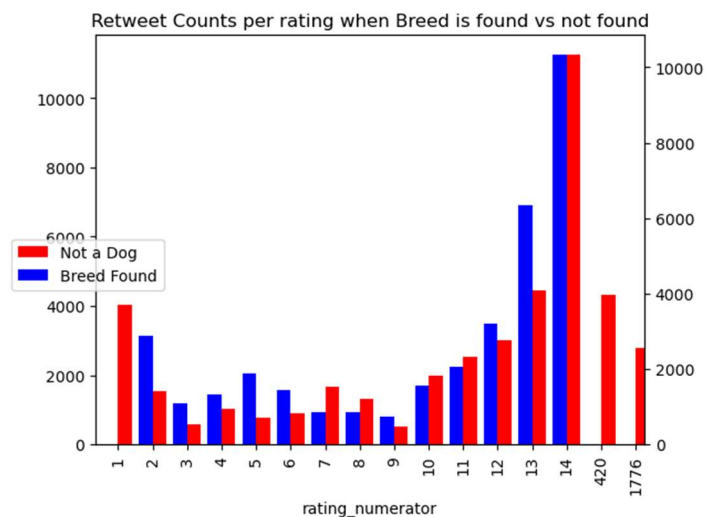

Unfortunately, if you’re hoping to review the “WeRateDogs” for only canines, you’ll be slightly disappointed. While the confidence level of this Walsh Springer Spaniel 0.0062%, we can agree it is not a canine.

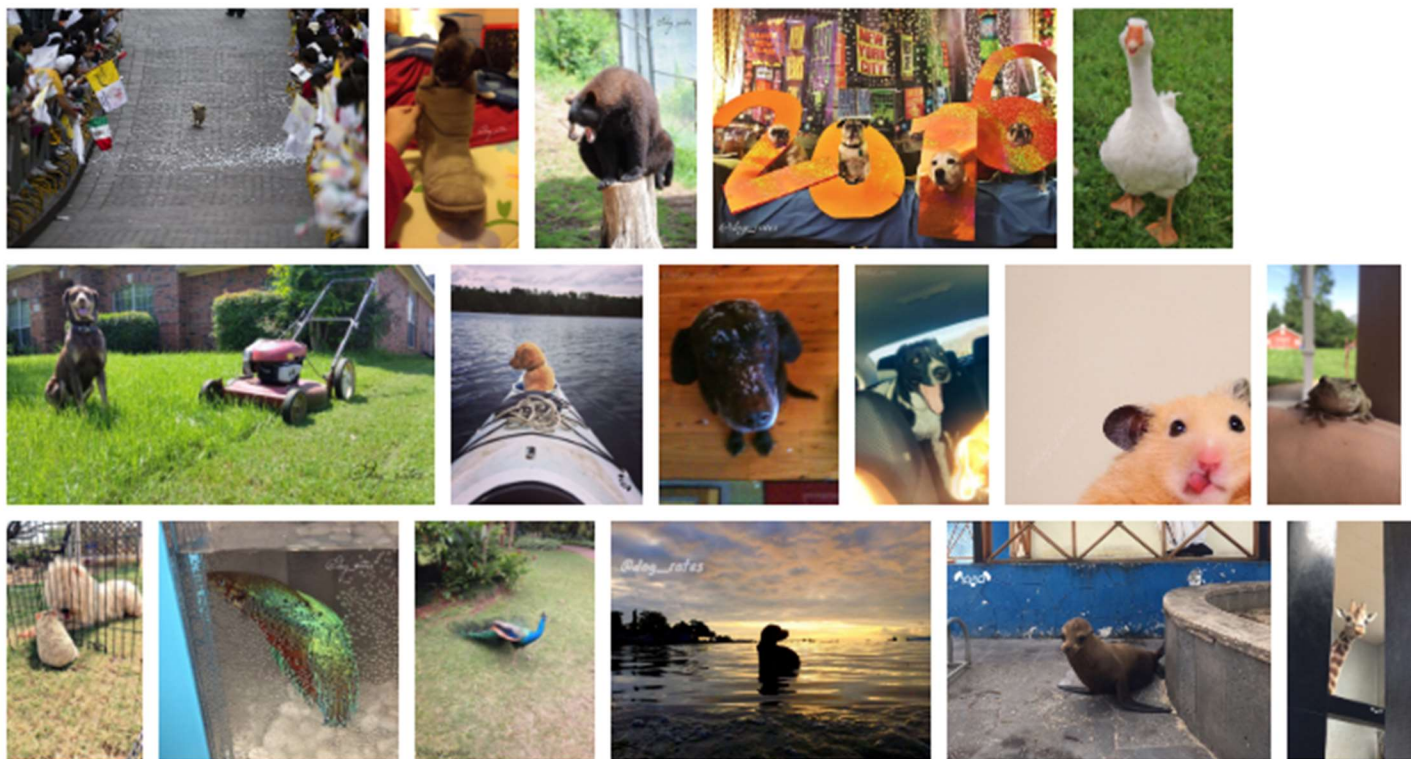

Strong ratings also do not indicate a dog is a true canine. This 420/10 dog is not a canine. However, the title is “WeRateDogs”, so are they wrong?

Hopes to find true canines based on the ratings, retweets, or favorite counts, it's guaranteed either. Based on the below a photo deemed "not a dog" will have comparable results.

While it would be great to assume any dog labeled "Not a Dog" was in fact, Not a dog, here's just a sample of what we'd miss out on: AWWWWW!

In conclusion, if you're looking for cute, cuddly, and funny reviews, take a scroll through "WeRateDogs".
